Design & Manufacture

Austmont's experienced and professional design team can supply full design drawings, from conceptual layout to finished product, in accordance with all Australian Standards (steel strength & health and safety regulations). Our 3D capabilities allow you to assess your floor-space and product flow prior to commitment.

The Austmont manufacturing team have extensive experience in producing high quality stainless steel products that are functional, look great and are made to last.

We have a state-of-the-art manufacturing facility located at Girraween in New South Wales. This enables us to move through the design, engineering, product development and production phases quickly and seamlessly.

Austmont services all industries including the domestic, retail and hospitality sectors (bakeries, butcher shops, restaurants, cafes, commercial kitchens, hotels, clubs, specialised bars and more).

We provide purpose-built cabinets, trolleys, food preparation areas and specialised refrigeration units and also offer turnkey solutions including the design, manufacture and fitout of projects.

Installation / Fitout

Austmont's experienced installation team carries out all work in adherence with clients' WHS policies.

Our team of qualified tradesmen and apprentices are highly trained and experienced in all aspects of fabricating stainless steel products, from government contracts to commercial kitchens to smaller private work, we have the capacity to handle projects on all levels.

Sheet Metal Laser Cutting

Austmont also provide custom laser cutting, using our state-of-the-art fiber laser cutting machine. We can provide high quality laser cut parts consistently and to your technical requirements.

Our skilled fabricators process custom sheet metal jobs quickly and accurately with the highest quality results.
